Program Activities

Youth and community members are invited to join this event to learn how to spot the warning signs of sexual exploitation and how to avoid and prevent becoming a victim of human trafficking. In today's busy world, parents, guardians, and educators' attention is being pulled in different directions. The advancement of social media and online communication has created dangerous opportunities that take advantage of vulnerable people, especially children, adolescents, and those with a history of trauma, trapping them as victims of exploitation. Learn how to protect yourself, your children, your friends, your family, and your community to help make Orange County a safe place to live.

- Survivor Advocate, Youth Prevention & Empowerment Speaker
- Higher Ground Human Trafficking Prevention Program
- Community organizations and resources for students
- Food trucks, raffle prizes, and more

How can I help or be part of this event?

This is a community public awareness event. It is not a fundraising event. The Orange County Human Trafficking Task Force and partners are participating with in-kind donations for our students and community. Let us know if you are interested in the following:

- I want to have a community resource booth.
- I will attend and will bring 5 people with me.
- I want to send students from my school.
- I want to donate a raffle prize for the students.
- I want to be a sponsor and make an in-kind donation.

If you want to help or be part of this community event, please contact Lisa Delamater, CSEC Coordinator & Supervisor, Children and Family Services, County of Orange Social Services Agency at Lisa.Delamater@ssa.ocgov.com.
